

PROFESSIONAL PROFILE DR SARAH CUTTS – GENERAL PRACTITIONER

Sarah is a General Practitioner with an interest in Sports Medicine. She graduated from Otago University in New Zealand in 1990, moving to Australia in 1993. Initially, she worked at Sir Charles Gairdner Hospital, then after three years moving into private practice. Sarah plans to develop her Sports Medicine interests at PIHC, as well as promoting health through lifestyle changes.

She has completed the GP Team Sports Medicine training programme and is a member of Sports Medicine Australia.

Sarah's major interest is cycling in all its forms. She is on the committee for the Cycle Touring Association of WA, and is currently co editor of their magazine. Recently, she has started training towards completing a triathlon. In 2009, she cycled in the Himalayas and in 2011 plans to cycle to Everest Base Camp. An end to end Munda Biddi will take place in September 2010.

Sarah's other interests include bushwalking, kayaking and the novels of PG Wodehouse.
